OVERVIEW

The INTS Honors Program is designed to provide advanced work, individual mentoring, and expanded opportunities for academic research experience and superior scholarly achievement for academically distinguished INTS majors.

The INTS Honors Program guarantees talented students a continuous mentoring relationship with one of our INTS faculty members from the time of their enrollment on, access to limited enrollment courses or course sections a one-semester experience as a Teaching Assistant for an INTS course, as well as, during their senior year, an honor Capstone thesis under the close direction of their mentor. In addition, it offers them preferential access to student-worker and grader positions in the Department.

Overall, the Program seeks to enhance the academic experience of outstanding INTS majors in a way that is particularly – but not exclusively – valuable to those who might want to pursue a graduate education.

In recognition of superior achievement, students who complete the INTS Honors Program will receive the INTS Honors designation on their official transcript. Participation in the INTS Honors Program does not exclude students from participating in other Honors Programs on campus – in fact, the INTS Honors Program requirements overlap with many of the requirements for the University Honors, Foundation Honors, and Liberal Arts Cornerstone Honors Programs.

REQUIREMENTS

To remain in the INTS Honors program and receive Honors distinction at graduation, INTS Honors students must:

PROBATION AND DISMISSAL POLICY

Honors students need to consistently comply with program requirements. Students may be subject to probation or dismissal from the program under the following circumstances:

- Students who do not have a 3.50 cumulative GPR at the end of the Fall semester will be placed on probation during the upcoming Spring semester. Students who do not have a 3.50 cumulative GPR at the end of the Summer semester will be placed on probation during the upcoming Fall semester.
- The minimum 3.50 cumulative GPR and 3.25 cumulative Honors GPR (all Honors credit, not just courses fulfilling distinction requirements) are necessary to graduate with an Honors transcript distinction from Texas A&M University.
- Any type of violation of the Honor Code will result in a review of the student's status and in a possible dismissal from the honors program.

CURRICULUM

INTS Honors students are required to complete 18 hours of Honors coursework. The coursework for the Honors Program is as follows:

- Six (6) hours of honors core curriculum courses either in Communication (KCOM), Literature, Language, Philosophy and Culture (KLPC), Creative Arts (KCRA), Social and Behavioral Sciences (KSOC), or Political Science (KPLL or KPLF)<sup>1</sup>
- Six (6) hours of any upper-division honors courses in ARAB, CHIN, FREN, GERM, INTS, ITAL, JAPN, MODL, RUSS, or SPAN
- Three (3) hours of INTS 201H: Introduction to International Studies, Honors Section<sup>2</sup>
- Three (3) hours of INTS 497 – Independent Honors Thesis
  - INTS 497 is an additional Writing Intensive Course required for the INTS Honors Program. It does not have to substitute for INTS 481: Senior Seminar.

Honors credit can be received in the following ways:

- Registering for a stand-alone honors course
- Registering for a stacked honors course section
- Contracting an honors course with an instructor

Honors courses can be identified by the section number – typically 200 or 970 – and the abbreviation “HNR” in the course title. For more information about options for honors credit, please visit <https://launch.tamu.edu/Honors/Honors-Fellows-Distinction>. Courses can be contracted as honors at the following link: <https://launchportal.tamu.edu>

HONORS THESIS

INTS 497 is the Senior Honor Thesis capstone of the INTS Honors Program. Under the direction of the student’s faculty mentor (or a different faculty member identified with the assistance of the mentor), honors students will conduct an independent research project and write a 25-35 page paper on a topic of their interest related to the student's area of specialization in the INTS curriculum (Track and Area).

The student’s research project should be specific to the country where the student did the international experience or to the student’s INTS geographic area of concentration, but a comparative context relating the topic to another region is encouraged. Its focus should be primarily on a current topic, with historical discussion in a secondary, supporting role. Finally, the research should show an ability to work with the designated foreign language.

<sup>1</sup> Prospective Freshmen and Transfer students who have completed these requirements may be permitted to substitute an alternative core curriculum requirement on a case-by-case basis

<sup>2</sup> Continuing students who have completed INTS 201 prior to being admitted to the program may substitute this requirement with an additional upper-division honors in INTS or a foreign language

MENTORSHIP

Each new student enrolled into the INTS Honors Program will be assigned an INTS faculty member as a mentor by the end of their first semester in the Program. Students will be assigned to a mentor according to their INTS track and interest areas identified through a one-on-one meeting with the Honors Program Director.<sup>3</sup>

Faculty mentors are meant to provide guidance and support to students in areas including, but not limited to, progress towards the INTS degree and Honors Program requirements, academic and professional opportunities and resources, graduate school preparation, and career goals.

Students are required to meet with their faculty mentor once per semester beginning in the second semester of enrollment in the Program. The faculty mentor will act as the student's advisor for the INTS 497 Honors Thesis or assist the student with selecting an appropriate faculty advisor for the thesis.
