Online Teaching:

While at Lancaster University, I collaborated in developing online materials for the online Master's degree in Values and the Environment, focusing on environmental ethics. (The environmental ethics module is still available here: <http://www.lancaster.ac.uk/depts/philosophy/awaymave/403new/home.htm>)

We delivered this entire degree online as well as live on campus; the course involved running discussion boards, online meetings with students, and intensive student visits to campus.

At Texas A&M, I collaboratively developed Genomics, Ethics and Society as an online, stacked graduate and undergraduate course, embedded in Blackboard, with a team from Texas A&M College Station and Texas A&M Corpus Christi, funded by the National Science Foundation:
